Parade Wins Most Praise at 4th Bazaar

Bethel's fourth annual Bazaar was held last Saturday on the Bethel Common and was a successful affair even though the attendance was somewhat smaller than had been hoped for. Much credit for the event goes to Herbert Kittredge, Frank Noy, Roderick (Mush) McMillin, Jim Lassiter, Adeline Dexter and her helpers from the Legion Auxiliary, Marjorie Freeman and her assistants from the PTA for their very successful auction with Frank Noy as auctioneer. $216.35 was realized from the auction which lasted most all day.

At the baseball game the married men outlasted the single men to the score of 10-1. The event took place at the Gould Academy ball field in the afternoon and was in charge of Spec and Scott Gueney.

Lawrence Sanders, State Trooper of Bethel, Albert Grover and Roderick McMillin were present in their official capacities as officers to direct traffic and help in any way needed. It has been remarked that the crowd for the day and evening were exceptionally quiet and orderly.

The parade started from the Common at 5 p. m. led by the Norway-Park Band up around the Common, down Main Street. At the monument the children and band turned back up Main Street, while the many floats went on to come up Railroad and Church Streets in order to give more a chance to see them. There were more floats than in the past, some very prettily decorated. Among them were Bennett's Garage, Redd Kilowatt (CMP Co.), Mush's Bazaar, Bethel Auto Sales, Jason Smith's grain store, the 4 C's (the Carter, Cotton, Cummings, "Crescent" children) the Crescent Park School Band, Bryant's Market, Wee Folk Shop.

The children of the town were well represented in the parade in all sorts of regalia. It is remarkable how each year the folks think up such original outfits for their children and some of them put in hours making the outfit, or decorating the cart or whatever it may be. We only wish we had the names of all those entering the parade to give them here in the paper. Each entrant was given an entry lollipop, and prizes were awarded as follow to the various groups:

Boys and Cars: 1—Wee Folk Shop, 110; 2—Bryant's Market, 110; 3—Crescent Park School Band, 110. Honorable Mention, 110 to Mush's Bazaar and the 4 C's.

Boys: 1—Barbara Angevine; 2—Peter York.

Girls: 1—Tommy Chadbourne; 2—Billy Roberts.

Boys: 1—Lorraine Eames; 2—Charlie Mills.

Girl Carriages: 1—Linda Palmer; 2—Lorraine Brown.

Costumed: 1—Claire Berry; 2—Baron York.

Advertising (on foot): Brown's Store.

The $750 prize won by the Bryant's Market float was given by Mrs. Bryant to the Crescent Park School Band group for their untiring fund.

The judges for the parade were Mrs. Walter Morse of Portland; Mrs. and Mrs. Luther Cudworth of Bangor; Mrs. John and Lady Mass; Sir John and Lady.

ANNUAL REUNION OF WEST BETHEL SCHOOL HELD

The annual get-together of former teachers and pupils of West Bethel School was held at the Grange Hall, Sunday, Aug. 3. Tommy Hutchins was winner of the bicycle from the Guild Booth. The bicycle was supplied through the courtesy of J. B. Chapman.

The Chamber of Commerce had charge of a Puppet Show at Odeon Hall in the evening when Mr. and Mrs. Hans Wacker of Portland presented a fine show.

Groups taking part in the mid-day were East Bethel Community Group, Lions Club, Bethel Players, W. S. C. S., Girl Scouts, American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary, Congregational and Methodist Guilds, Men's Brotherhood, Middle Intervale Extension Group, Saunders and Freeman boys, Rebekahs. The Boy Scouts were present to run errands and assist all that they could.

All groups were not able to be present at the meeting this Monday evening and thus the report for the day is not as yet complete but there will be printed a complete and itemized report of the day so that all may know how much was received and how it has been used.

The Bazaar group wishes to thank all who helped in any way in this year's affair and to remind everyone that we do need more help. Now ideas, now events to plan next year's so let's all keep it in mind and start now to plan a bigger and better one than ever in 1953.

ABNER B. KIMBALL

The three score years and ten allotted to our late friend and neighbor Abner B. Kimball were full of friendships and achievement and hard work. A kind and considerate man to others he never spared himself and within a few days of his death did his usual twelve hour stretch in the hay field.

He was a loyal citizen of Albany, spent his entire life there, except for a few winter vacations in Florida, and was closely associated with the people and traditions of his town and neighborhood. These neighbors, his loving children and his many Bethel friends will long miss him.

A heart-warming sight was to see and hear Abner greeting, and being welcomed back, on his Spring return from the South. All up and down our village streets his booming voice responded to the cordial greetings of young and old. He was always glad to be back home and people were glad to see him.

Abner was a farmer in the old fashioned sense of the word. A generation ago he raised on his farm on the shores of Songo Pond all native crops and geese, ducks, chickens, turkeys, sheep and cattle. To favored housewives he sold dairy products and garden produce. With the passing of this well known citizen one more link with the colorful era of the old Songo Pond colony is gone.

The profusion of flowers at his funeral on this Thursday at Hunt's Corner Church, Rev. Alvin Strong officiating, and the throng of friends and mourners were mute and humble evidences of the love and respect accorded a good man.

Abner B. Kimball died Monday at St. Louis Hospital, Berlin, N. H., where he had been a patient for two weeks.

He was born at Albany, Sept. 7, 1881, the son of Thomas and Martha Burris Kimball. He married Bertha Burris in 1903, who died in 1923. He was a prominent farmer and lumberman, and had spent the past several winters in De Land, Florida. He was a member of Round Mountain Grange.

He is survived by his wife, Daisy, his daughters, Mrs. Celia Gorman, Bethel, and Mrs. Jeanne Claremont, Albany, three sons, Fred, Bethel, Albert and Leonard, of Bethel, a step-daughter, Miss Ivy Philbrick of Albany; a sister, Mrs. Mary Brown, Bethel, a brother, Leslie of Albany; 11 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

SWIMMING CLASSES

Summer certificates by Joe Bennett, Joanne Bennett and Madelyn Evans. Advanced summer certificates by J. R. Life Savings by Lillian Currier and Mary Lee Selling. The non-the-less welcome rain cancelled a few hours and there were no classes Thursday out of respect for Abner Kimball.

The Beach Patrol for the final week of Aug. 8, under Harriet Noyes, is Monday afternoon Alma Young, Tuesday afternoon Doris Feaser, Wednesday afternoon Edna York, Beverly Noyes.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Peachey, Maxine Brown, Betty Blake, Friday afternoon Harriet Noyes, Isabel Bennett, Alice Bennett.

A Past Grand of Mount Abram Lodge of Odd Fellows he had been a member of this Lodge for nearly 60 years.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Mildred Farrar of Randolph, N. H., Mrs. Harold F. Bennett of Bethel, and Mrs. Glenwood Smith of Falmouth Foreside; a son, Charles, of North Waterford; a brother, Ernest, of Oquossoc; four grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Dry Weather Causes Great Crop Losses

Extremely dry weather in most parts of Maine this summer has caused severe damage to such crops as blueberries, peas, snap and dry beans, lettuce, second-crop hay, and even oats and potatoes. Rain is badly needed and it must come soon and in sufficient quantity if further losses are to be prevented. Irrigation systems have paid off handsomely this year. Only bright spot in the picture has been the excellent haying weather.

Communist Unions Should Go

During a discussion recently in a Mid-western city on Communist infiltration in various phases of our national life, a man rose during the question period, identified himself as a high school principal and asked why some of our big defense industries don't kick out the Communist-dominated unions. He mentioned several big companies which have continued to deal with alleged Communist-dominated unions although competing non-Communist unions existed.

The answer is that so long as a majority of employers of a plant or of a particular trade in that plant want a Communist-dominated union as their bargaining agent and the National Labor Relations Board certifies that union to be the company's union, the union cannot be legally kicked out by the company. General Electric Company, manufacturer of jet engines and atomic weapons, has been obliged to deal in some instances with the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, and its alleged Communist leaders because this union is the holder of control in the industry and has been certified by the National Labor Relations Board.

A committee of Congress is studying legislative means of attacking the Communist labor groups. It recognizes that they cannot be kicked out of plants so long as a Federal Government with the National Labor Relations Board gives them legal standing. The committee has asked for help from non-Communist labor leaders and several leading industrialists who have been involved with unions labeled as Communist dominated.

It is believed Vice President Charles McNamara has made detailed investigations for legislative action and has called upon Congress to immediately make it legally possible for the Federal Government to take over the management of plants owned by the Communist Party. We were told for $100,000 by the NEW.

Recommendations
General Electric's specific recommendation is to force the removal of Communist leaders from the management of plants owned by the Communist Party. This would be an initial step toward getting at the Communist-dominated unions.

It is suggested that Congress should establish criteria for determining Communist domination of a plant or of a labor union. These criteria should include the presence of Communist leaders in the management of the plant or the union, the presence of Communist leaders in the labor union, and the presence of Communist leaders in the management of the plant or the union.

Outline the Trailers
The House has authorized the creation of a committee to study the activities of the Communist Party in the United States. The committee is to report to the House by September 1, 1952.

The House has also authorized the creation of a committee to study the activities of the Communist Party in the United States. The committee is to report to the House by September 1, 1952.

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Active Life Banishes Worry

GUION L. PHILLIPS, Charlotte, N.C., once was so dissatisfied with his job that he hated to see the sun rise. He says he made life miserable for his wife when he came home at night. He was ready to quit his job, but not having another one to go to he hung on.

Then his manager told him to pack up and go to Atlanta to a sales training school. He had decided that this job offered no career for him and he felt he was wasting his time as well as the company's. But just to hold on to a job, he reported at the school.

Suddenly he realized that there were two alternatives for him: (1) He could just waste time and do nothing but be bored. (2) He could fill over minute with study and activity and get all he could out of this course; he had nothing to lose. The sales training would be good for any new undertaking.

So he grabbed on to that course with jaws firm and he got every speck of knowledge and experience from it he could. His enthusiasm overwhelmed him. He hadn't known he could forget worry so easily. Every day his assignments were in on time, his lessons prepared, and he participated in class discussion more than he ever had in any lecture course. To his surprise he gained weight, felt better and got a tremendous boost from the training school. He reported back to his company a new man; worry was gone; enthusiastic activity was the answer. Since then he has kept so busy practicing the things he learned that his mind has had no time for worry.

Time passed. At times discouragement and doubt try to creep into his mind when things don't do right, but he has found the answer. Get busy! An active life is too full to have any room for idle worry!

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare

The first thing General Eisenhower did after witnessing his victory on TV was to call on Senator Taft. The significance of this gesture and the gracious gesture of Taft for it there is to be a Republican victory next November, it is clear that there must be far more unity within the party than exists at the moment. The wounds that were inflicted before and during the convention are deep and painful. It is General Eisenhower's difficult task to heal them.

His response that was expected of him, by saying he would do everything in his power to help the GOP candidate win and to help him afterwards as President. No one doubts that Taft will do exactly this, to the limit of his very great capabilities. But many of the Taft men, and to a greater extent the hard-core McArthur men, have demonstrated a very different attitude.

Their anger, it is true, is not directed so much at Eisenhower as it is at those who managed his campaign and fought to a victorious conclusion without giving or asking quarter—notably, Governor Dewey. Many think Eisenhower could not have beaten Taft without the enormously skillful work of Dewey and the Dewey lieutenants from New York. Only about two weeks before the convening of the convention it was evident that the General's political star was waning, and it was then that what amounted to an SOS was sent to the Governor. What he accomplished deserves a permanent place in political history. He demonstrated again what even his bitterest enemies have long admitted — that when the chips are finally down in a tough political game, no one plays his cards better.

It may be that one of the major Republican assets is, in a sense, a negative one. In informed party circles, there is none of the blind confidence that characterized the 1948 campaign and led to the debacle. And there is every reason

Ideas from other editors

FROM the Lamar County Echo, Paris, Texas:

"Why do newspapers throughout the country devote so much space to editorial comment? Are the editors trying to 'run' the nation or force the people to adopt their views? Not at all. They are only endeavoring to get the people to stop and think for themselves. If editors can do this, they have fulfilled their obligations to the public. We do not expect all our readers to agree with us on any issue discussed in these columns. When they agree or disagree we have at least caused them to do a little thinking of their own—and that's our mission so far as editors are concerned."

Spaniel dog with long black ears. Other men prefer the Convict trim, that is where the head is almost shaved. Next comes the Butch cut, not quite so short, but still on some fellows instead of looking like Joe College it looks like Egg Head of the Circus.

"Next comes what I call the Sheep Dog. He doesn't have his hair cut or combed and peers out like a sheep dog. Then there is the bald spot, and no matter how he combs and brushes it he still can't cover the bald spot. Somehow the effect resembles a hole." Now we come to the Rag Man.

Now we come to the Rag Man.

Fair-dos and Dont's

from The Wright County Monitor, Clarion, Iowa:

"There have been a lot of comments about the horse tail hair-do, most of them vigorously adverse insofar as the men are concerned. But one of the cleverest rebuttals on that comes from 'Snooping Sal' column in the Clear Lake Mirror. Just get a load of what Sal says about some of the men's hair-dos:

"Men have made many comments on the style of women's hair-dos, especially with the advent of the 'poodle curl' and the 'horse tail.' I even heard one fellow remark that the poodle curl should be on a dog, and the horse tail should stay on the horse. Now this fellow was sporting what I call the Cocker Spaniel cut. He had long black hair that reminded me of a Cocker Spaniel, he is bald on top, and has."

Grass Roots Opinion

Knoxville Express, Knoxville, Tenn.:

"Our government experts say that many foreign countries will be made into self-supporting nations. Perhaps, like charity, these things should start at home. Here in this country nothing appears able to support itself without government help . . . here we see far away foreign places being told how to become self-sufficient."

From Italy News-Herald, Italy, Texas:

"Had Congress refused to go along with presidential requests for more power . . . had Congress had a tight rein on governmental expenditures; had Congress been careful about approving presidential appointees, this nation would never have slipped as far away from socialism as it has."

Hot and Heavy Campaign Predicted As Ike and Adlai Vie for Presidency

By the time the Democratic convention screeched to a halt in Chicago on July 26 America had the line-ups for what is shaping up to be one of the most crucial presidential elections in the nation's history.

To compete with Republicans Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon for the presidential prize the Democrats picked Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama—and they did it the hard way, in a wide-open, bellowing, week-long convention.

When, on that fateful Friday evening, the forces behind Adlai Stevenson pushed him over the top to receive the presidential nomination on the third ballot it was the climax to one of the most violent and raucous political conventions ever held anywhere.

Ever since the opening of the big quadrennial meeting on Monday, July 21, the 1,230 Democratic delegates inhabiting the swarming floor of Chicago's International Amphitheatre had fought like the Kilkeny cats over civil rights, candidates, party loyalty, and a few other less profound issues—such as whether or not to adjourn.

Breach Healed

But in the end, the main breach that had threatened to divide the party—a liberal vs. conservative fight over the now famous Moody loyalty "assurance" resolution—had been pretty well bridged. Stevenson's choice of Sparkman as the vice-presidential candidate was intended to cap the effort towards North-South unity, although some discordant voices still were being heard.

Stevenson himself, in a somewhat off-the-cuff manner, had contributed a little to the impending disunity by his attitude of total reluctance toward the whole idea of running for president.

His behavior during the weeks preceding the convention, and indeed almost up until the day of his nomination, probably will be recorded as a kind of political classic. He made no deals; he rejected all overtures of support. He repeated again and again that all he wanted was to be governor of Illinois.

He did everything, in fact, except make an incontrovertible statement that he would not accept the nomination.

Yet, in the end, bereft of his inclination after the convention had made the decision for him, Adlai Stevenson revealed himself as a shrewd, energetic, and willing candidate, ready to go to bat in the best interests of the nation during the campaign between now and November.

Acceptance Speech
"I accept your nomination—and your program," he said in his speech to the clamorous and satisfied delegates who had chosen him. "And now that you have made your decision I will fight to win that office with all my heart and soul. With your help, I have no doubt that we will win."

Stevenson, now 52 years old, has held appointive government positions since the early days of the New Deal. At one time he was special assistant to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. It was Byrnes, incidentally, who started him on his active political career by urging Jacob Arvey, Illinois Democratic boss, to draft him to run for governor in 1913.

Stevenson is on record with regard to all or most of the issues that will arise in the election campaign. He favors limited social welfare programs to assist those who through "unavoidable circumstances" have not been able to maintain a decent standard of living.

Wants FEPC Law
He says he will seek a fair employment practices law "with powers of enforcement." That, as a matter of fact, was one of the provisions he made before he would even begin to talk about accepting the Democratic nomination. He insisted that the party write into its 1952 platform a strong and bold civil rights plank. The civil rights plank, as it turned out, fell a little short of what he had asked, but he had made his point.

He is against socialized medicine, against doles and subsidies, against "McCarthyism" and against loyalty investigations, which he calls the trappings of a police state.

On the Taft-Hartley law he has taken a middle-of-the-road stand, saying that some of its more than 120 sections are good, others bad.

In this respect he is in a certain amount of accord with the Republican nominee, Eisenhower.

Sen. John Sparkman, the Democrats' vice-presidential choice, has the blessing of the main body of party leaders, although there are some areas of coolness toward him around the fringes.

Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia claims he doesn't think Sparkman "is well enough known to be of any help" to the Democratic party in his state. Sparkman, of course, was staunch and solid backer of Georgia's Sen. Richard Russell during the long convention fight.

There is a possibility, too, that Sparkman's negative record on civil rights and a fair employment practices law might tend to harm or cancel out Stevenson's known attitude on that issue.

Disregarded Implications
It is a fair assumption, however, that the Democrats this year had their eyes open to this fact and knew what they were doing, choosing to ignore the possible implications in favor of nominating a vice-presidential candidate who would achieve within the party the North-South unity they need and want so badly.

One thing seems certain at this juncture: the presidential campaign will be a hard-fought battle and the election will be extremely close.

The Democrats, however, have an edge over the Republicans in that the integral structure of their party organization has not been so severely damaged. The Republican Old Guard, represented by the defeated Taft forces, remains bitter over Eisenhower's nomination and has not yet been seen jumping over any fences to give its full support to the GOP nominees.

Although the Democratic convention was a furious political melee, the party succeeded in maintaining a working cohesion, which was at least partly the result of Sen. Estes Kefauver's graceful acceptance of his defeat.

Kefauver, who started out the convention with the most popular support and the greatest number of delegates known to be pledged to any of the candidates, played the role of the stag at bay during the whole proceedings. He was besieged at every turn by a growing force of Stevenson, and in the final analysis could not cope with the tremendous influence wielded by the Illinois and New York delegations.

Two Costly Errors
In addition, the Tennessee senator made two tactical errors during the convention which didn't help his cause a bit: (1) He appeared in the convention hall Wednesday afternoon, in direct violation of a longstanding tradition which says that no known presidential candidate should appear before the delegates until the nominations have been completed. Although he received a noisy ovation, he created much resentment among the delegates at the same time as in the round, ambulatory floor fight over the seating of the Virginia delegation, the Tennessee delegation voted against it. That, in all likelihood, cost Kefauver whatever chance he might have had of getting the support of the southern states.

But when Kefauver appeared on the platform Friday night after Stevenson's nomination he was smiling and courageous as he formally withdrew his name from the running and promised to lend his complete support to the Stevenson cause.

It was another demonstration of the will-to-win sense of unity that came and went periodically during the convention and which at the end, the Democrats say, finally arrived to stay. For a while, anyway.

Fellow citizens, voters, nice people. I again plead for assistance with getting some place with my saving of free America via my platform - a one-planer. It has no trails, no long-winded affairs, designed to confuse and catch the unwary flat-footed off second base. It guarantees the right to work, the right to prosper, the right to protection against any enemy.

I will elaborate a mile on one enemy within our own boundaries. He is the gink who preaches the notion that the Govt. can do anything best and the people can sit in the shade and get the profit. Take Govt. electric lights as a sample. It is one of champion phonies.

To delve further into the lights, if Bethel or Los Angeles or Tennessee - all are messin' in kilowatts - would sell their outfits for cash to the best bidder and apply the dinero to reducing their debts, they would eliminate bond interest - they would put tax-exempt property back on the tax roll. The resulting rates would be no higher - and the taxes on the people would be reduced. The State commission would fix a reasonable kilowatt rate - and the byways and highways of the land would be washed clean of a horde of burlesque political rascals, that are cramping the style of America. Dominion Over Circumstances

NO one need be the victim of circumstances. Circumstances are our servants. They provide us with opportunities - opportunities for expressing God, for manifesting, as His reflection, wisdom, faithfulness, love, understanding, dominion.

Christ Jesus had neither wealth, backing, nor influence, but he had complete self-dominion over whatever circumstances confronted him. He lived his life under the law of God, the law of spiritual peace, life, and love. His understanding of divine law and obedience to it annulled for him all illusory material laws.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 14): "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing spiritual understanding and the consciousness of man's dominion over the whole earth. This understanding casts out error and heals the sick, and with it you can speak 'as one having authority.'"

It is not necessary to withdraw from humanity in order to gain spiritual understanding. In fact, the crucial test of our spiritual understanding lies in how we apply it in our day to day dealings with our fellow men. Many accounts in the Bible illustrate this.

Joseph, for example, appeared to have very little control over the events in his life. Hated by his brothers, sold into slavery, cast unjustly into prison, forgotten by those whom he had aided, he yet assumed dominion over his circumstances and turned them to spiritual advantage. He lived his life according to "the Life divine" and not according to "the belief and dream of material living."

Material circumstances would have told Joseph that his state as a slave in Egypt was one of inferiority and helplessness, but his spiritual integrity told him that he was under God's rule, and that obedience to God prevails against the injustices of mortal decrees. Conscious of God's presence, he reflected the spiritual qualities of friendliness, faithfulness, and brotherliness. These brought him favor and dominion. When a slave, he was made overseer of his master's household; when a prisoner, he had committed to him the welfare of the other prisoners; and, as time went on, his spiritual vision so impressed Pharaoh that he made him second only to himself in all Egypt.

Resentment, self pity, a helpless magnifying of misfortune - these are all part of "the belief and dream of material living." Joseph had no time for them. His faithfulness to God kept him under the protection and governance of divine law, so that he was able truthfully to tell his brothers (Genesis 45:8), "It was not you that sent me hither, but God; and he hath made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt."

Under the law of God, Jesus had been able to pass safely through crowds seeking his destruction and go on his way, but for humanity's sake he allowed himself to be crucified. On the threshold of this experience he prayed (John 17:1), "Father, the hour is come, glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee." He stressed not the terror but the glory. He was not the victim of crucifixion, he was the victor over death for all time.

We can go forth daily not to fight circumstances, but to meet angels. We can place ourselves, our families, our careers, under the law of God. Humbly and confidently we can assume the mastery over circumstances, search for and find their blessing, and progressively demonstrate the liberality of the children of God. - The Christian Science Monitor.

BETHEL GIVES BRYANT POND 5-5 TIE LAST THURSDAY

The Bethel A. C. bootled away their chances of defeating Bryant Pond for the first time this season at the Pond last Thursday evening.

Bethel scored in the first inning when Baker and Brown walked and Bill Robertson clouted a double to center, scoring both runners.

Bryant Pond scored a run in the second when Brown let Farnum's single over second base go by him in center for an error. Farnum went to second as Brown chased the ball nearly to the fence as the other two outfielders were not overly anxious to back the centerfielder up on the play. Farnum easily scored on Melina's single.

The Pond assumed a 4-1 lead in the third on Dick Mills home run with Les Thurlow and Don Whitman aboard.

Bethel made the score 4-2 in the first of the fourth when Bennett scored on Pete Baker's double to left. Bethel went into the lead 5-4 when Glynn Witter hit a home run with Merle White aboard.

Bryant Pond knotted the count in the eighth when Fred Farnum lashed a liner to right that G. Witter got his glove on but couldn't capture while Farnum was hustling all the way to third before the ball was returned to the infield. Farnum scored on Dean's single.

The game will be replayed at Bryant Pond next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

BUCKFIELD SCORES EASY WIN OVER R. A. C., 12-5

Although veteran right-hander Lawrence Bailey pitched creditably the Bethel team could not seem to match his good pitching with even mediocre fielding.

Bill Robertson paced the losers at the plate with a single and a double in four trips to the plate. The Bethel aggregation tours to Rumford Point and it is hoped that more players can find their way to Rumford Point than did the last time the team played there.

Bethel plays at Bryant Pond next Tuesday evening and Locke Mills next Thursday evening. The next home game will be against Bryant Pond on Sunday, Aug. 17.

NEWRY

Mrs. Leon Enman, Corres.

The Circle Supper held at Newry Corner Wednesday night of last week was a great success thanks to the many people who attended and the ladies who donated food so generously.

Miss Melvina Learned went to Rumford Monday night to spend some time with Mr and Mrs Leroy Learned.

Miss Janis Swan of Locke Mills and Miss Terry Greenwood of Berlin, N. H., spent the week end with their grandparents, Mr and Mrs Leon Enman.

The Circle meeting was held at Mrs George Learned's, Monday evening. There was a good attendance. Plans were made for another supper at Newry Corner, Aug. 27. Those on the supper committee will be Mrs Mary Vail, Mrs Louise Learned, Mrs "Sue" Brooke, Miss Helen Powers, Mrs Betty Duran, and Mrs Elsie Enman. After the meeting sandwiches, cookies, and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Mr and Mrs Richard Blake Jr. were Sunday evening guests of Mr and Mrs Harold Brooke Sr. recently spent some time in Salamanca, N. Y.

Tuesday evening guests at the home of Mr and Mrs Leon Enman were Mr and Mrs Ida Johnson of Hanover.

Volunteer leaders conduct hundreds of homemakers' meetings.

CERTAIN SMALL CARES given your electric washing machine will add years of wear and service to it, as well as help cut down on repair costs.

Don't let water stand in the tub for hours after washing is done. Let it drain off, then wipe carefully with a clean cloth, rinse and dry. Agitator and suction cups should be removed and rinsed well, too.

A soft sponge and a hose are ideal for removing lint and soap suds which have formed either on the tub or on the agitator or suction cups.

Wipe rolls or springs, too, before putting machine away for the next time. It will save the springs and rubber on the rolls if you release the pressure for the time machine is not in use.

Leave the cover off the tub until the dampness has dried. This will prevent a musty odor.

Always wipe the connecting rod dry and carefully wind it around books or weights so that it will not drag on the floor and wear as you move the machine.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Meat Dressing from Cream

(Serves 6)

4 cups chopped, cooked beef

2 teaspoons minced onion

1/2 cup scalded cream

2 1/2 teaspoons prepared horseradish

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients. Heat thoroughly. Serve as vegetable.

Washers should be stored in heated locations, but all water should be out so they can never freeze and thus become damaged. Place washer in a warm location, then for an hour or so before washing begins so that it can heat and the grease in the gears can soften before use. This will help prevent burned out motors.

Always cover the washer after it's dried out, so that dust and grime cannot accumulate. Plastic covers are excellent protection for them, as they're light and easy to wipe clean.

If your washing machine is on wheels, see that they are always tread properly when moving so that you don't have to force them, and thus weaken them.

More than 20,000 Maine farmers and homeowners enjoy the benefits of membership in their county Extension Associations.

In general, when arranging a flower garden keep the low plants near the front and the tall ones toward the back of the bed. This suggests Professor Roger Chapp of the University of Maine.

Celebrate "August is Sandwich Time" picnic fashion with the favorite sandwiches pictured here. Sandwiches are so easy to make you can organize an outing in a jiffy.

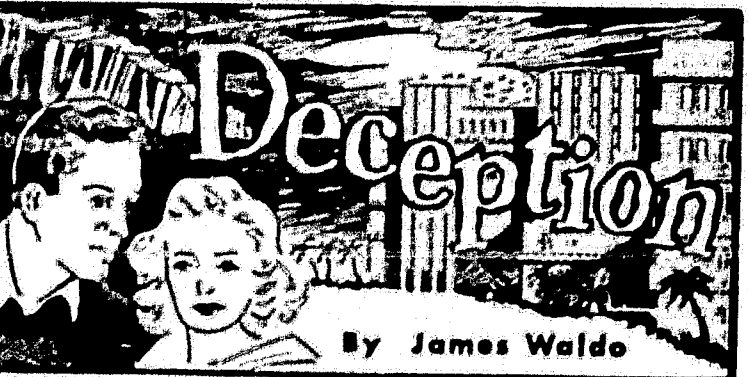

Picnic time is fun time! Keep food preparation to a minimum. You can quickly make up ham and cheese sandwiches. Everyone likes 'em. Or, you might even take the "fixings" along and let each one make his special favorite.

Potato salad is a high ranking escort for sandwiches. On hurry-up occasions buy a big bag of potato chips. Make a big thermos jug of lemonade and take along a sack of fresh fruit. Your menu is complete!

Ham and cheese make ideal fillings for sandwiches because they travel well. Other good pre-made picnic sandwiches include all of the luncheon meats and sausages, roast beef, sliced chicken, tongue and corned beef. If you want your sandwich to take on "daywood" proportions, take along picadillo, mustard, tomatoes, lettuce leaves, chili sauce and salad dressing.

Here are some other delicious sandwich fillings which are at their best when made at the picnic site. Choose from the wide variety of cheese and meat spreads available in jars. Take along a can of sardines and hard cooked eggs for "make-your-own" specialties. Another good one is made by mixing cream cheese with crushed crisp bacon, chipped beef or crushed fruit.

If you have a camp stove, or facilities for making a fire, you'll probably want to take along frankfurters and long buns. Other "best sellers" are the mighty hamburger and the luxury steak. Perhaps you haven't ever made toasted cheese sandwiches over a fire. You'll like them. Heat pork and beans, too, over the fire and make bean sandwiches with Boston brown bread. Bread is especially good with this. Add variety to picnic sandwiches by using different breads. Of course, enriched white bread is most popular. But you will enjoy occasionally, whole wheat, rye, pumpernickel, raisin and cinnamon breads. Fruit and nut breads are especially good with cheese spreads.

SCOTTEN'S FRIENDS URGING WRITE-IN VOTE FOR U. S. SENATORIAL CANDIDATE

To the Editor of the Oxford County Citizen:

I am sure that those who belong to the Townsend Club know that I went them to get all they can to help them meet the higher and higher cost of living. I am saying this not as a politician to get votes but as a doctor who knows the fundamental needs of older people and wishes them to live happily and comfortably through their remaining days.

Politicians Can Help Humanity

Politics should be as highly regarded as the Priesthood, the Ministry or the Medical field. Politicians in high offices can help humanity as no others can. It is a sad commentary on our present status that the word which so often precedes Politician is the word "cheap." Every day we hear about "cheap" politicians. Thinking voters the country over are getting sick in their souls of "machine politics." The mere fact that a man came through the Primaries by fair means or foul—as a machine choice—is no reason to believe that he is the best person. It may be a strong count against him. We need men with clean hands. No others should be elected or appointed to public office.

Grateful for 65,000 Votes Received

In 1946 I gave the Democratic Party everything I had, and the vote I got after a 10 months long, hard campaign amazed the state and nation. I am profoundly grateful for the 65,000 votes I received. This is the same vote that Sen. Brewster got last June after 30 years in politics. When campaigning in 1948 and since then, I used my own hard-earned money. The Party gave me the kind of support that cost them nothing. To date, I have been reimbursed only $25 through some of the money collected in 1948, 1950 and 1952 was intended for me. The bill I submitted to the Democratic State Committee for $3,000 was for only a small part of my expenses. Though I was not reimbursed the $3,000 owed me since '48, this amount was given by the same committee this year to James Oliver in order to get him to run.

Should Settle Old Debt Now

It would be a contribution to justice, party harmony, and to a Democratic victory to pay this old debt to me without further delay. The Democratic Party of Maine will not win unless it does what is right and deserves to win. Money is the root of all evil and those who control the money of Maine's Democratic Party will not tell me or those who zealously support me how much they collect or what they do with it. Since 1947 my friends and I have tried to get this important financial date without any success. It's probably kept from them because if given to them, or me, it is believed the party would have to pay the bill they owe instead of spending it in other ways. Those who have given money and those who have spent money liberally for the Democratic Party of Maine have a right to know how much has been taken in since 1947 and just how that money was spent. This must not be given secret smoke-filled room treatment. The public does not approve such procedure.

This year, as in 1948, it was exceedingly difficult for the Democrats to get candidates. Some would not run "until satisfactory financial arrangements were made." Those who have money are not willing to spend it and get pushed around by those who do nothing to get them elected. My many friends feel that I was repeatedly given this inexcusable treatment.

Roger Dube and I were the only candidates early in the field. This year I was not a candidate for the U. S. Senate because I did not want to create a contest for the office since Dube had already announced his candidacy for the Senate before anyone else was ready. I decided to run for Congress but it was definitely the second choice of myself and my supporters. My friends believed, and certain Party leaders assured me that there would be no contest for that office. I entered in the Primaries often create wounds which often do not heal before election.

Though I was the logical candidate for the U. S. Senate because of the large vote (60,000) received against Margaret Chase Smith in the last Senatorial election in Maine and because I was the only available candidate who had campaigned previously for the United States Senate, I stepped down to Congress for the sake of Party harmony. At the time, I felt that this concession would be appreciated. All along, I have believed that the Democratic Party would eventually do what was right for me. As time goes by, I am beginning to lose that firm belief.

I wanted Earl Grant to run for Governor, but in several off-the-record meetings of "self-annointed" Party Leaders, it was decided O'Connor would be candidate for Governor and Grant would compete with Dube for U. S. Senate. I was assured there would be no contest for U. S. Congress but just before the deadline McVicar got his nomination signers almost overnight with the help of Lausler of Biddeford. I am a firm believer that just because certain people control the money of the Party they should not be allowed to control or pick the candidates who run for office in Maine.

Scotten a Write-In Candidate For U. S. Senate

I decided not to run as an Independent, but in spite of this fact, many will write in my name as a U. S. Senatorial candidate. This is done without my name being on the ballot. My friends who are promoting this write-in vote tell me I do not need to get the vote. I did in 1948 to be elected U. S. Senator this year. They say "This year the competition is much weaker and you are better known and much stronger. Only 26 percent is needed. There will be four candidates for that office."

We are a free people in a free country. It is the privilege of Maine voters to vote for a Republican, a Democrat, an Independent or a write-in. In the U. S. Senate Election September 8th, and this can be done without anyone needing to know who is the voter's choice. We have the right to vote and to vote in secret in America. The people here in free America make the decisions, not a small machine group such as is represented by certain City, County or State Committees, who are elected to their places by a dozen or more voters but try to control many thousands of voters and the Party's money. Through control of the Party's money they often control the candidates, and self-respecting candidates want no bosses over them. They appeal to the people regardless of order from the bosses of the Party, or what the bosses do. The people can tell bosses off for the voice of the political machine is usually not the voice of the people.

A PEEK AT THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY
QUENTIN REYNOLDS will be on video screens in the near future in a quarter-hour film series titled "Thrill of a Lifetime". . . . Quent is one of the best story-telling news-men it has been our pleasure to listen to in a long time. . . . Hope he doesn't have to be burdened with a script, unless it's written by himself, on this new show. . . . June Valli, featured vocalist on ABC's "Stop the Music!", has cut an RCA Victor record titled "Strange Sensation" that has the music trade agog.

The bulk of the stories and articles penned by the late Damon Runyon are slated for telepic production, one of the best pieces of news that has come across this beaten and battered desk in a long time. . . . Runyon's yarns, while New York fantasies, are universal in appeal and maybe the chuckles they will provide via television is what this tired old world needs these days. . . . An indication of the enormous appetite for talent television has, is shown by upcoming plans at NBC. . . . The network is sending a production unit to Europe to film top vaudeville acts for later showing here.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, who was recently deserted by hubby George Sanders, is being used to promote a TV show titled "I Want to Get Married". . . . Look for "Mr. and Mrs. North" to hit the TV airwaves this fall. . . . It has been estimated that the combined TV-Radio audience for the national political conventions will hit 99,000,000. . . . "Duffy's Tavern" may make its debut on TV this fall, too, which wouldn't leave many unexploited radio programs left.

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIA—Champ Butler does a very fine job with the beautiful "Auf Wiederseh'n Sweetheart". . . . Here is a boy who has a good voice and a lot of boyish appeal but so far the bobby soxers haven't caught up with him. . . . When they do you can be sure he will be riding the crest, because the chap has what it takes to put over a song. . . . Back of the disc has "Padam, Padam". . . . A PICK OF THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

QUENTIN REYNOLDS will be on video screens in the near future in a quarter-hour film series titled "Thrill of a Lifetime". Quent is one of the best story-telling newsmen it has been our pleasure to listen to in a long time. . . . He doesn't have to be burdened with a script, unless it's written by himself, on this new show. . . . June Yall, featured vocalist on ABC's "Stop the Music", has cut an RCA-Victor record titled "Strange Sensation" that has the music trade agog.

The bulk of the stories and articles penned by the late Damon Runyon are slated for telepic production, one of the best pieces of news that has come across this screen and battered desk in a long time. . . . Runyon's yarns, while New York fantasies, are universal in appeal and maybe the chuckles they will provide via television is what this tired old world needs these days. . . . An indication of the enormous appetite for talent television has, is shown by upcoming plans at NBC. . . . The network is sending a production unit to Europe to film top vaudeville acts for inter showing here.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, who was recently deserted by hubby George Sanders, is being passed to romances a TV show titled "I Want to Get Married". . . . Look for "Mr. and Mrs. North" to hit the TV airwaves this fall. . . . It has been estimated that the combined TV-Radio audience for the national political conventions will hit 25,000,000. . . . "Duffy's Tavern" may make its debut on TV this fall, too, which wouldn't leave many unexploited radio programs left.

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIAN—Champ Butler does a very fine job with the beautiful "Aut Wiedersche'n Sweetheart". Here is a boy who has a good voice and a lot of boyish appeal but so far the bobby soxers haven't caught up with him. . . . When they do you can be sure he will be riding the crest, because the chap has what it takes to put over a song. . . . Back of the disc has "Padam, Padam". . . . Frank Sinatra's latest is "Luna Rossa" with "Tennessee Newsboy" on the flip.

are asked to notify us promptly, and in advance if possible, of changes in address.

This will guarantee delivery of your Citizen on time each week, and we can make the correction soon as well as late.

It costs us two cents for each copy returned by the post office department, after it has been held for delivery at your old address.

Even then they may not give the new location.

So that you will receive every copy—so we can save that two cents—remember to tell us when you move.
